

10 Held in Plot Aimed at U. S. Envoys in Cuba

Threats Against Crowder and Legation at Havana Printed in Connection With Sacco-Vanzetti Case

Probe Terrorist Agitation

Americans Are Warned of 'The Dagger of Vengeance' in Proclamation

HAVANA, Oct. 30.—Threats against Major General Enoch H. Crowder and the United States legation in Havana, are contained in proclamations distributed here in connection with the Sacco-Vanzetti case. The posters denounce General Crowder as a "representative of the American bourgeoisie" and threaten "the dagger of vengeance" against the Americans.

General Crowder, who was in charge of the selective draft during the war, was sent to Cuba a year ago to settle a contested presidential election and to propose electoral reform. He has been retained there since as an adviser of the Cuban government.

[Sympathizers with Sacco and Vanzetti recently sent a bomb to Myron T. Herrick, United States Ambassador to France, which exploded in his Paris residence.]

The police are taking prompt action. Last night they arrested ten persons, at the headquarters of a syndicalist labor organization. A number of terrorist proclamations were found on the premises. Other arrests are expected. The prisoners will be given preliminary hearings to-morrow in a special court which is investigating the terrorist agitation.

Agitation Renewed in Italy

ROME, Oct. 30.—Various radical organizations have resumed their agitation in behalf of the Italians, Sacco and Vanzetti, under conviction for murder in the United States. Large meetings with the photographs of the condemned men are being displayed on billboards.

A committee, headed by the Communist Deputy Bombacci, was received last night by the Marquis della Fortezza, Foreign Minister, who said everything was being done to see that the condemned men received justice.

Philadelphia Meeting Raided

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—A mass meeting of Italians to pledge moral and financial support to Sacco and Vanzetti was raided to-day by the police after speakers had declared that the Italians of this country would tear down the jail if the men were not given justice and warned that if the men died in the electric chair a number of prominent men would pay the price.

More than a hundred policemen, under the command of Police Captain Graham, and several agents of the Department of Justice took part in the raid. No arrests were made and the speaker who made the sedition remarks was spirited out a rear door and whisked away in an automobile. The meeting, which was attended by nearly five hundred Italians, was advertised as a meeting of an Italian beneficial society.

The hall was well filled with persons wearing flowing black bow neckties and clouds of tobacco smoke hung over the audience when the first speaker mounted the platform and outlined the case of the two condemned men and charged that their sentence of death was due to capitalism. The speaker told how capitalism had harassed the

Their Friends Bombed Herrick's Home

Nicola Sacco (left) and Bartolomeo Vanzetti as they appeared in court at Dedham, Mass., Saturday for hearing on their motion for a new trial. They are under sentence to die for the murder and robbery of Frederick Parmenter, a shoe factory paymaster. Sympathizers of the pair were responsible for rioting in Paris recently and the sending of a bomb to the United States Ambassador

Italians and shouted that now was the time for the Italians to take the matter into their own hands. Another speaker gave a similar address.

Government and Courts Assailed

Then came the fireworks. Constantino Pongari, of Philadelphia, who has long flowing black hair and who is about thirty-five years old, was collarless as he mounted the stage. The first sentence he uttered was an attack against the judicial system of the United States. Judges, lawyers, juries and, in fact, the whole system was torn apart by the speaker. "Those men in that jail awaiting execution are innocent men," he shouted, "and they shall be freed because the Italians of this country are going to storm that jail, tear the doors off, tear the building down and liberate them. We will show the American people a sample of justice."

The Pongari switched his attack against the government of the United States and continued about two minutes when a short whistle sounded in the room and a husky young man wearing a pinstriped cap arose in the center of the room and advanced toward the stage.

"They wait a minute," the young man said. "You cut that stuff out of my coming up there and knock you off that stage."

Pongari stepped in the middle of a sentence and advanced threateningly toward the intruder.

"Who are you who would slam me in the jaw?" he inquired.

Wild Rush for Exits

"My name," the man said, "is Angelo Garcia, district detective. If you open your mouth again I'm going to flatten you out."

The speaker on the platform laughed and continued his address, waving his arms excitedly.

"They try to shut me up," he said. "They can't. I have been in jail twelve times and am willing to go again. I those two men die in the electric chair, my mouth will pay the price."

Soviet Hints It May Repay U.S. Loss in Revolt

Indemnification of Americans Suggested as Factor in the Program for Resumption of Relations

Debt to France Is Offset

Russians to Claim Damage for Alleged Support of Gen. Wrangel's Campaign

By Harold E. Scarborough

Special Cable to The Tribune

Copyright, 1921, New York Tribune Inc.

RIGA, Oct. 30.—Russia's willingness to recognize the pre-war Czarist debt in exchange for Allied recognition of the Bolsheviks, as declared in Foreign Minister Tchitcherine's note to the powers, made public yesterday, might be extended to include the indemnification of American interests for losses in the revolution of 1917, it was intimated in authoritative Soviet sources here to-day.

If the resumption of normal relations between the United States and Russia should be brought about, Officials of the Bolshevik government have had a growing realization that responsibility for some of the Russian national debt must be undertaken by them as the price of peace with the Allies. Leo Kamenoff, President of the Moscow Soviet and a member of the national cabinet, told The Tribune correspondent recently that the Bolsheviks were going to be ready to discuss the recognition of these old debts as soon as their own financial house could be put in order.

American Investments Heavy

No figures are available here as to the total value of American investments in Russia that were lost in the revolution, but it is believed that they represent a much larger sum than the value of pre-war Russian bonds held in the United States. Most of these securities are held in France. Tchitcherine's suggestion that his proposed international conference should discuss the claims of Russia against the other nations is believed to be a loophole through which the Bolsheviks hope to write off a large part of the Russian debt to France by demanding indemnification for General Wrangel's anti-revolutionary campaign in South Russia. The French supported this military drive and it is expected that the Bolsheviks will argue that their cause was injured to this extent.

Kamenoff outlined at some length to the correspondent the steps being taken to get Russia back on her financial feet. He pointed to the national bank that opens November 1 and will operate on the principle of Western banks.

Basic Industries Retained

When asked if the restitution of the old financial system did not signalize a complete return to capitalism he replied:

"Not quite. The government retains the title to all land and will keep under control the basic industries—coal, oil, metals and textiles. Even in these industries, however, we are willing to negotiate concessions running as long as ninety-nine years."

"Although other industries may be

Irish Recognition Board Moves Office to Capital

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

BOSTON, Oct. 30.—The opening of the hearing on the pleas of Vanzetti and Sacco, convicted of the murder of the Braintree shoe factory paymaster and his guard, for a new trial has aroused public interest in the case, and while the second session of the hearing will not be held until next Saturday, owing to previous engagements of the presiding judge, the case is one of the principal topics of conversation here to-day.

This interest was fanned to-night when the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee issued an appeal to the press and public to heed only the evidence introduced in the courtroom and ignore the rumors and stories being spread toward the intruder.

The appeal in part reads:

"The lurid plots and threats attributed to mythical individuals referred to as 'Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers' are so thoroughly harmful to the effort being made to save the two men from the electric chair that they could not have originated in the minds of friends."

Newspapers Are Assailed

"We feel that the level-headed, intelligent and honest portion of the community accepts these accusations for what they are worth. Nevertheless, incessant printing of alarmist

Shoot and Kill Rum Runners, Says Dry Organ

"Only Good Bootlegger Is a Dead Bootlegger." View of Bulletin Issued by the Temperance Board

Ranger Code Advocated

Firing on Enforcement Officers by Men Resisting Arrest Inspires Advice

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The shooting and killing of bootleggers by prohibition enforcement officials is advocated in the weekly news bulletin issued to-day by the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Church, of which the Rev. Clarence T. Wilson is general secretary.

The article, headed "The Only Good Bootlegger Is a Dead Bootlegger," proposes that rum runners be treated roughly, as a Texas ranger might handle them. It says:

"On several occasions recently prohibition and police officers in the discharge of their duty have been fired upon by bootleggers. Unfortunately some of these belligerent bootleggers have been taken and lodged in jail. They should have been lodged five feet under ground."

"In Washington recently police officers attempted to stop a car going through the streets at terrific speed and were ignored. They gave chase in another car and were being outdistanced when the bootleg machine ran into another automobile standing by the curb, injuring its occupants and careening down the street. Both bootleggers leaped from the car with drawn revolvers. Nevertheless the officers took them alive."

"This is not good policy. Such incidents should be dealt with according to the code of the Texas Ranger."

Recht Believes Story Soviet Will Pay Debts

Special Cable to The Tribune

Copyright, 1921, New York Tribune Inc.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—The reported proposal of the Soviet government in Russia that in return for recognition it will recognize the debts of the Czarist government incurred prior to 1914 has not been received in this country according to a statement issued by the State Department, which was confirmed yesterday by Charles Recht, attorney for the Soviet government in the United States.

"I have heard nothing of the proposal, but would not be surprised if it had been formulated," said Recht. "If the story is true it will be forwarded to this as well as other governments. Soviet Russia is anxious to harmonize its policies with those of other nations, and settlement of the Czarist debts would be in line with this desire."

Revolution in Paraguay Causes President to Resign

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 30.—A dispatch to "La Nacion" from Asuncion says that President Gondra of Paraguay has handed his resignation to Dr. Felix Paiva, the Vice-President, in the face of a revolutionary movement by the followers of ex-President Schaerer. The revolutionists are reported to have the support of all the troops and police in the capital and country districts. Notwithstanding the apparent turnover of the government quiet prevailed.

Stimson Opposes Preference

Henry L. Stimson, former Secretary of War, and colonel of a field artillery unit in the 72d Division, expressed his opposition yesterday to the proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1, which would provide a blanket preference for war veterans in the civil service of the state. Colonel Stimson, in a letter to the Committee Against Veteran Preference, declared the measure was not representative of the spirit of the great majority of the veterans of the World War.

Victory for Celtics

The Original Celtics added another victory to their unbroken record of wins by defeating the North Philadelphia team, 32 to 19, yesterday afternoon in Madison Square Garden.

"Dutch" Delmont signaled his return to the Celtic line-up by playing the most brilliant game of his career.

BATTEN

What You Do and What the Public Does

PUBLIC opinion and public action are quite different from personal opinion and personal action.

Here is an example: In Northern cities it is customary for men to begin to wear straw hats on May 15th and not before. It is customary to discard straw hats on September 15th. No matter what the weather is on September 16th, straw hats are not worn.

Now then, for what individuals say: Ask a thousand men about this and nearly every one will tell you that it is a silly custom, that he never pays the slightest attention to it, that he never follows any kind of a bellwether, and that he suits his apparel to the thermometer and not to the fool habits of a lot of clerks.

That's what the individuals will say.

But take a look at the streets. Nine out of ten men will be wearing straws on September 14th and about one in a hundred on September 16th. Or ask the hat stores what the public's habits are. They will tell you.

Individuals do not read long advertisements. The public does. Individuals do not insist upon advertised goods. The public does. Individuals are not thrifty. The public has money in the savings banks. Individuals with property talk a lot about their wills. A large percentage of the public dies intestate or with wills so old as to be worthless.

The word "public" means the people collectively. Collective thought and collective action is not the sum of what a number of individuals deliberately and consciously do. It is something else.

Public opinion is in a large measure the unconscious opinion of people, and public action is largely the undeliberate action of people.

This is especially true of the kind of favorable public opinion that advertising induces. You can't see it. Inquire around among your acquaintances and you won't always find it. Sometimes the only place you can find any trace of it is in the order books of the salesmen who are selling the advertised thing.

Once a month, or more frequently, we issue a publication called Batten's Wedge. Each issue is devoted to a single editorial on some phase of business. If you are a business executive and would like to receive copies, write us.

George Batten Company, Inc., Advertising

381 Fourth Avenue New York

Chicago McCormick building

Moulding favorable public opinion for articles or services that deserve it

Be Suspicious of Tender Gums

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unnamed tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.

Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism, and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Rigg's Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's For the Gums cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.

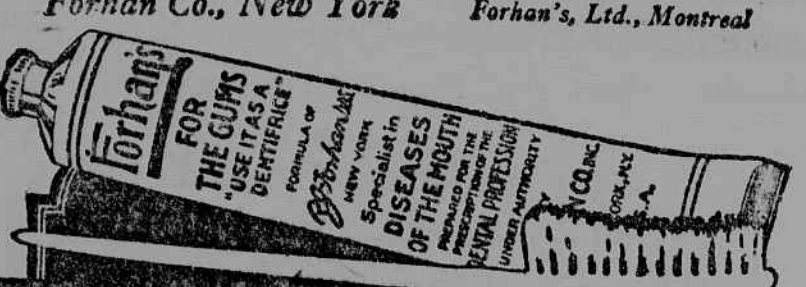

Brush Your Teeth With Forhan's—How to Use It

Use it twice daily, year in and year out. Wet your brush in cold water, place a half-inch of the refreshing, healing paste on it, then brush your teeth up and down. Use a rolling motion to clean the crevices. Brush the grinding and back surfaces of the teeth. Massage your gums with your Forhan-coated brush—gently at first until the gums harden, then more vigorously. If the gums are very tender, massage with the finger, instead of the brush. If gum shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

35c and 60c. All druggists.

Formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S.

Forhan Co., New York Forhan's, Ltd., Montreal

FORHAN'S FOR THE GUMS

Checks Pyorrhea

United Electric Service is supplied to the

Heckscher Building 57th Street & Fifth Avenue

The twenty six story office building of magnificent proportions that establishes a new and imposing landmark on Fifth Avenue.

The owners are the Heckscher Building Corporation, August Heckscher, President; the architects, Warren & Wetmore; the builders, George Backer, Inc., and the electrical contractor, Johnston Livingston.

When in need of Electric Light or Power Service, call Stuyvesant 4980. Your requirements, whether large or small, will receive the prompt attention of our Commercial Department representatives.

The United Electric Light and Power Co.

130 East 15th St., New York.

89th Street and Broadway 146th Street and Broadway

BATTEN

What You Do and What the Public Does

PUBLIC opinion and public action are quite different from personal opinion and personal action.

Here is an example: In Northern cities it is customary for men to begin to wear straw hats on May 15th and not before. It is customary to discard straw hats on September 15th. No matter what the weather is on September 16th, straw hats are not worn.

Now then, for what individuals say: Ask a thousand men about this and nearly every one will tell you that it is a silly custom, that he never pays the slightest attention to it, that he never follows any kind of a bellwether, and that he suits his apparel to the thermometer and not to the fool habits of a lot of clerks.

That's what the individuals will say.

But take a look at the streets. Nine out of ten men will be wearing straws on September 14th and about one in a hundred on September 16th. Or ask the hat stores what the public's habits are. They will tell you.

Individuals do not read long advertisements. The public does. Individuals do not insist upon advertised goods. The public does. Individuals are not thrifty. The public has money in the savings banks. Individuals with property talk a lot about their wills. A large percentage of the public dies intestate or with wills so old as to be worthless.

The word "public" means the people collectively. Collective thought and collective action is not the sum of what a number of individuals deliberately and consciously do. It is something else.

Public opinion is in a large measure the unconscious opinion of people, and public action is largely the undeliberate action of people.

This is especially true of the kind of favorable public opinion that advertising induces. You can't see it. Inquire around among your acquaintances and you won't always find it. Sometimes the only place you can find any trace of it is in the order books of the salesmen who are selling the advertised thing.

Once a month, or more frequently, we issue a publication called Batten's Wedge. Each issue is devoted to a single editorial on some phase of business. If you are a business executive and would like to receive copies, write us.

George Batten Company, Inc., Advertising

381 Fourth Avenue New York

Chicago McCormick building

Moulding favorable public opinion for articles or services that deserve it